

ABSTRACT

PRINTER METHOD AND APPARATUS

An inkjet printing device comprising a plurality of printheads and a plurality of servicing modules, each module comprising first and second sets of servicing components and being arranged to service exclusively a given printhead, said first set comprising a spittoon and said first or said second set being independently replaceable.